Hi All,

Bit of a strange one as the Library has a new policy that the rooms are not available on public holidays.

I have no reason and as it is no different to what we did previously when it was a holiday, it just seems strange.

However rules and rules.

This magazine is just to keep contact and to report on the financial position for April. There were no expenses and income was from a renewal and member rejoining.

I have updated all the laptops to 24.04. it showed up an issue we will need to keep an eye on. I found that upgrading from the pop up advising an update is available, failed on more than half of the computers. Nor reason all looked good but when restarted to the new version a black screen stopped going message no bootable drive.

So, we will be staying on the version until forced to consider a further update. So if when using one of the laptops please DO NOT do an update to a new version if offered.

Fred has been working on linux and has a programme for moving forward. Can you follow the functions as we go and not jump ahead so all are on the same stage. If you get there fast, you might help someone who is having trouble.

We will look at basic installs of different apps but only those of use at our level. We will see if we can just use the apps loaded by default so that increases the ease of change over if you want to use linux.

All for now

See you at the meeting

Keith
